PJST – Call for Papers

The Centers for Ecological and Environmental Studies; Information Technology and Media Studies; and Public Health at Akamai University would like to announce an open and on-going call for papers, manuscripts, and communications for The Pacific Journal of Science and Technology (PJST). As a peer-reviewed interdisciplinary journal of science and technology, PJST seeks to provide a platform for research, observations, theories, and communications from both inside and outside of Akamai University.

PJST is published in an electronic format, semi-annually at the end of May and November. To be considered for inclusion into PJST, submissions must be received no later than one-month before the publication date. The editors of PJST extend an open invitation to the global scientific community and encourage you to consider submitting your articles for publication. The topic matter of the journal is very broad and interdisciplinary in nature. We will consider any referenced article or communication related to the many disciplines of science and technology.

For the Spring 2023 Edition, papers must be submitted according to the format detailed in the submission guidelines. The submission window for the Spring edition will open on December 27th (at 0900 hrs Eastern US Time) and end once 30 papers have been accepted for review. We ask that a submission fee of $38 USD accompany each paper submitted for review. No papers will be held over for the Fall 2023 edition. Manuscripts submitted after the closing of the Spring 2022 submission window must be re-submitted (during the next submission window) to be considered for publication in our subsequent edition (if submission fee is accepted, it will not need to be resubmitted). Please note that our review slots have filled rapidly during the last several review periods. If you wish to have your paper reviewed for our next edition, you should submit it as early as possible during the review window.

Electronic submissions can be directed to the Managing Editor at: PJSTeditor@aol.com . Submission fees should be submitted through PayPal (www.paypal.com) to PJSTeditor@aol.com

Papers submitted to the journal go through a two-tiered review (editorial and peer review). To this end we are also seeking to expand our pool of peer reviewers willing to evaluate one or two papers a year. We are always looking for topic experts from both inside and outside the Akamai community who are willing to serve in this capacity. If interested, please contact the Managing Editor. Thank you.
